Origins and Development of the Mary Poppins Script

Literary Foundations and Early Adaptations

The journey of the Mary Poppins script begins with P.L. Travers' beloved series of children's books, starting with "Mary Poppins" published in 1934. Travers' original narratives were characterized by their whimsical tone, Victorian sensibilities, and layered storytelling. When Walt Disney expressed interest in adapting the series into a film, the process involved translating Travers' literary voice into a screenplay that balanced storytelling, musical elements, and visual spectacle.

The initial screenplay development in the early 1960s was led by writers Bill Walsh and Don DaGradi. Their adaptation aimed to capture the book's charm while making it suitable for a cinematic audience. Travers' involvement in the development process was complex; she was famously protective of her material, insisting on maintaining its literary integrity. The resulting script balanced theatricality with fidelity to the source, but also faced creative tensions that influenced subsequent revisions.
